As a member I have enjoyed participating in many events that the Board has prepared. I love to network, and I believe SAYLA does a great job in encouraging young lawyers like myself to get to know other attorneys and non-attorneys. I also think the free CLEs during the pandemic have helped me learn and grow my personal practice.

During my time at Texas Tech University School of Law, I served on the Board of the Hispanic Law Student Association (HLSA) for two years, and just like SAYLA our goal was to provide law students with the opportunities to network, socialize and learn from the law in fun settings. We hosted mixers with other associations and we also enjoyed giving back to the community. We collected teddy bears for a local adoption center and also cooked breakfast for the families staying at the Ronald McDonald house in Lubbock, Texas.

I would love to get back to community service and networking, and I believe serving as a SAYLA Director will place me in the perfect position to do this within the law arena.
