

- Name: Josué J. Galván
- Employer: Jackson Walker LLP
- Brief description of practice: I am a litigator who represents clients in state and federal courts, and private arbitration proceedings. My practice includes a variety of business litigation, catastrophic personal injury defense, investigations and white collar defense, and probate litigation.
- Law School / Undergrad: Texas Tech University School of Law / The University of Texas-Pan American
- Where did you grow up? Palmview, Texas (Rio Grande Valley)
- What brought you to San Antonio? As a kid, my parents brought me to San Antonio on vacation, alternating between Sea World one year and Fiesta Texas the next. So I always wanted to live in the “big city.” Securing my first attorney role in San Antonio through the law school on-campus interview process was a dream come true.
- What has been your favorite SAYLA event? There are too many to pick just one, but our first post-Covid Judicial Jamboree (2022) was a highlight this year.
- Why vote for you? Since becoming involved in SAYLA in 2019, I have seen the organization continue to grow in both vision and numbers. From providing fun and unique networking opportunities all around town, to creating innovative CLE programming for young lawyers, to serving the community through project-based service and pro bono work that is new to SAYLA, SAYLA continues to provide a variety of enriching opportunities for San Antonio’s young lawyers. After serving as Vice President the past two years, I would be honored to continue SAYLA’s legacy as President-Elect.
- Favorite San Antonio restaurant? A go-to that never fails me is Taquitos West on Nacogdoches (an order of tripa tacos with a bistec quesadilla “on the side”), followed by a mangonada from Helados Aranda next door.
