

My name is Kennedy Hatfield Asel. I grew up in San Antonio and attended the University of the Incarnate Word for undergrad where I obtained a degree in Government with a concentration in comparative politics and international affairs. After college, I worked in politics as a political fundraiser for varying campaigns from the local level to the national level. I graduated from St. Mary's School of Law in 2020. While in law school, I married my husband Aaron and gave birth to our daughter Lyndon who is now 5 and about to start kindergarten! During the Bar exam I was 7 months pregnant with our son Henry who is now 3. I practice business litigation, employment law, and real estate litigation at Ford Murray, PLLC. I have been a member of SAYLA since law school. I also sit on the board of the St. Mary's GOLD council (Graduates of the Last Decade) an alumni organization catered toward newly minted attorneys and the Founder's Council— a young philanthropic organization for individuals between 25 and 46 supporting the scientists and researchers at Texas Biomedical Research Institute. I would love to join the Board of SAYLA to continue to support the organization's tradition of cultivating a community for young attorneys to connect and grow in the legal profession.
